Imagine Canada—John Hodgson Non-Profit Resource Library

Imagine Canada-John Hodgson Library and United Way of Peterborough & District are working together to provide local community based organizations with access to useful information, resources and training. The Non-Profit Library Network provides free access to the largest collection of Canadian non-profit literature in the world.

Access information about grant makers

What Can the Non-profit Resource Library Offer Your Agency?

- Access to your local community collection—a core collection of
- resources on fundraising, volunteer and HR management, governance and much more hosted by the United Way of Peterborough & District.
- Access to John Hodgson Library's online collection through a dedicated terminal at the United Way Office.
- Free online access to the Canadian Directory of Foundations and Grants.

Community Information Services

Community Information Services is a United Way partnership with the City and County of Peterborough to deliver timely and relevant information and referral services to local residents and organizations and to promote community volunteerism.

Community Information Services provides referral services to individuals looking for information on human and social services, as well as volunteer opportunities in Peterborough and surrounding area. We publish and sell the Community Information Handbook also known as the “Blue Book” that contains over 300 pages of easy-to-reference information about community clubs, agencies, services, and organizations.

In addition, we populate and maintain the City of Peterborough & County of Peterborough content on fourinfo.com
